HAIR TRANSPLANT

Hairpol brings your hair back to life!

Hair transplant is an operation that requires expertise, in which the hair follicles taken from the donor area, are transplanted to the areas where the hair follicles have completely thinned out or the hair density is reduced.

With tailor made operation plans and the high quality techniques permanent hair grow in the transplanted areas looks completely natural.

In recent years, hair transplant is demanded by women as well as men. The procedure is successfully applied to women who has female pattern hair loss also known as Androgenetic Alopecia.

SAPPHIRE DHI

During the DHI hair transplant technique, hair follicles which are in good quality are collected from the donor area and placed in the transplantation area with the help of special implanter pens.

In this method, which does not require cutting or shaving, the implanter pen enables the roots to be treated in a shorter time as it can do the channel opening and root placement processes at the same time.

FUE (Sapphire FUE)

FUE hair transplant is a technique that allows maximum root transplantation. This method is successfully applied especially to people who have advanced hair loss and need a high number of hair follicles to be transplanted in one session.

BEARD TRANSPLANT

One of the main places that men pay attention to and care most in their appearance is their beard. Beard transplant is an extremely effective method used by men who cannot grow a beard or either men who experience irregular grown/patterned beards due to various reasons. Using the DHI method, the process is carried out by transferring the hair follicles taken from the nape area or the area where the beard is dense, to the area to be transplanted. Within a very short time the treated area will grow out naturally

What is Hair Transplant for AFRO HAIR?

An Afro Hair Transplant is applied for people with curly hair. It is a hair transplant method, especially for black people of African American race. In the light of research and scientific developments in the hair transplant sector, it has been understood that a different method is essential for people with African American structures. Because the curly structure in the hair of African American people is not limited to the visible parts. Under the skin, hair follicles continue to curl and develop there. However, people with a straight hair structure have less tight curls. For such a patient, both FUE and DHI hair transplantation can be easily performed. However, DHI Hair Transplant may not be a suitable method for African American hair transplantation. It has been seen in many cases that the FUE Hair Transplant method may be a better choice for the person who needs an Afro Hair Transplant.

However, there is a fine detail between Afro and straight hair types. Curly hair grafts have a curly shape both on the skin's surface and under the skin, making it more challenging to extract the hair grafts healthily. It requires more professionalism and experience. To extract standard (straight) hair grafts, we use a device called a punch that works with a diameter of 0.9 mm and 4 mm long straight rotating flexion. But since Afro-curly grafts have a curly shape even under the skin, we need to change this punch to extract healthier hair follicles with a higher number of hair grafts. With the extraction of Afro curly hair grafts, we can extract an average of 3000-3500 hair roots with a punch with a shorter length and conventional diameter.

Afro hair roots also have an advantage over other straight ones as they provide more density when they grow after implantation. In a recent study, it was observed that 3500 hair grafts in Afro-type hair transplantation can have the same successful effect as 5000 hair grafts in straight-type hair transplantation. However, the doctor who extracts Afro hair grafts must be experienced in this field, as the number of extracted grafts directly affects the density of the hair. The grafts must be extracted one by one with care to avoid breaking or damaging them, as this affects the quality of the hair roots, which is a vital factor.

FUE WITH SEDATION

Hair Transplantation Has Never Been So Comfortable

FUE with sedation is an pain-free hair transplant method.

In this method, the anesthesiologist applies analgesic in the appropriate dose by evaluating the physical condition of the person before the operation.

The patient remains awake during the procedure but doesn't feel painful sensations with needles or other medical intervention during the operation.

The patient does not lose consciousness.
He/she can eat before the operation.
He/she can meet all his needs (going to the restroom, etc.) during the operation.
As soon as the procedure is over, the patient can return home immediately.
The patient can be informed during all stages of the operation.

For more detailed information and consultation, the Hairpol team is always with you.

EYEBROW TRANSPLANT

Eyebrow transplant is the most effective method for eyebrows that suffer from deformity due to many problems. HAIR SUPPORT TREATMENTS

Support that brings your hair back to life here at Hairpol!

Mesotherapy

Mesotherapy is an alternative treatment method used in the treatment of intense hair loss in both men and women. Mesotherapy is a non-invasive technique based on superficial microinjections, just below the epidermis, into the target tissues. The term «meso» is derived from the mesoderm or middle layer of the skin. Mesotherapy is a treatment that stimulates the mesoderm, which relieves a wide variety of symptoms. These microinjections give the tissue the minerals, vitamins and regulators it needs through the follicle. As it prevents the hair from falling out, it also ensures that the hair grows back revitalized, strengthened and thickened again with more volume and shine.

Stem Cells Therapy

Stop your hair loss in 'ONE SESSION' with Stem Cells Therapy. Stem Cells Therapy system is a cell suspension prepared from healthy and strong hair follicles which is applied to problematic scalp areas. The main purpose of this is to support sick and lifeless hair follicles.

How is the Application realized?

3-6 hair follicles are taken painlessly and indolently from the hair of the person behind the ear. After these hair follicles are converted into a special cell suspension in the Stem Cells Therapy system, a totally special hair loss treatment is prepared entirely from your own tissue.

Treatment is usually realized within one SESSION.

Its optimum effect is visually seen after 6 months.

Growth factor treatment, which has been spreading rapidly in recent years, enables hair to grow, develop and grow back healthily. Growth factor treatment, in which cocktails containing many different growth factors are brought together in the form of curing with micro injections into the hair follicle. The methods to be used in hair treatments are determined as a result of the examination of our specialist physicians and by referring to laboratory tests when necessary.
